

Karisma: Your Complete Workforce

At any radiology practice, large or small, there's a multitude of tasks going on. At smaller facilities, things like invoicing, stock control, information technology management and a host of other functions are often performed by just two or three staff. What these facilities wouldn't give for an extra team of people on the job.

Kestral's multifaceted RIS, Karisma, puts the skills and knowledge of an array of professionals at your disposal – an Accountant, a Store Person, a Transcriptionist, an IT Administrator and more. With Karisma, you can be sure your best people are on the job, helping to run things behind the scenes.

The Accountant

With the undeniable importance of the bottom-line, a dedicated numbers guru is always an invaluable asset. Karisma gives you the power of deep analysis of your profit margins and financial periods. You can raise invoices, receive payments and even bulk bill Medicare Online, plus everything in between.

Your Karisma accountant will offer you custom reports on statistical information and give you accurate and relevant data about every detail on the performance of your business – arming you with everything you need to make the right business decisions.

The Storeperson

Every bit of stock you use in performing examinations and other daily tasks is costing you money. Contrast, catheters, syringes, you have to pay for all of it; so it makes sense to keep track.

As a Store Person, Karisma has it covered with expert inventory tracking that gives you up-to-the-minute information on the ins and outs of all the consumable stock in your business, expiry dates, spoilage and more. You can do all of this across a single site or however many you have.

The IT Administrator

No business is complete without an IT specialist with a finger on the pulse of the system. Karisma gives you one with masterful control over user security profiles and the locks placed on data files. Activity on the server is monitored and integration with your third-party systems, such as the PACS and PMI, is made simple.

With the addition of HQ, you get an instant link to support from Kestral. You have the assurance of the quickest possible response times during events such as full disks and network issues. Plus, Silo will take care of all your excess baggage, so to speak, keeping your work sheet and other images separate from your main database and making maintenance faster and hardware cheaper.

The Purchase Officer

Half of your business involves taking and filling orders, sending invoices and keeping an accurate record of it all. Karisma will take orders from your other systems and turn them into requests using the rules you've given it.

When it comes time to send these orders and requests out, Karisma gives you a series of distribution rules you can set up to print, fax and email the documents you effortlessly crafted with its document designer.

The Staff Coordinator

Staff are your most important resource. Keeping them happy and working at their best is a job for the Staff Coordinator. Karisma comes with straight-forward tools to let you and your staff customise which features they see and the way they work.

Build work lists with only the most relevant work, alter screens to get the best layout for a user, or let them do it themselves. There's a place to broadcast messages too; whether to the whole team or just a chosen few.

The Transcriptionist

One simple way to report a case is speak into a mike and have someone type it all up. Karisma offers a Transcriptionist who can either transcribe your voice files directly or hand it off to your typist.

Karisma's voice recognition navigation lets you move around with spoken commands, while its dictation functionality gives typists the tools to play back your file, rewind and fast forward you to get your report out quickly and accurately.

About the only thing your Karisma Transcriptionist won't do for you is make coffee – yet. We are adding new features all the time.

The Auditor

A Karisma Auditor will keep track of everything that happens on your system; from the slightest change in a patient's details to the payments and refunds going back and forth.

To be thorough, you'll have information on who did what, when and where. Any time you like, you can take a closer look at all of this information and run some impressive reports on activity, KPIs and more.

The Business Owner

The Head Honcho, Numero Uno, The Boss, whatever you call them, some one is in charge. Usually, it's the person with the most invested in the business. Karisma keeps them happy with a wealth of stats that matter from comprehensive management reports.

Get a birds-eye view of every financial aspect of the business. Learn which referrers are generating the most value, when your busiest periods are and a whole range of figures you probably didn't even realise you needed until you had them.

The Complete Picture

Regardless whether you're running a chain of facilities or a modest one-person operation, there isn't a business around that couldn't use a hand. Making the most of what you have is a breeze with the right tools.

Whether you're balancing the budget, billing your patients, watching your stock levels, analysing the bottom-line or performing any of the countless tasks that make up your day, Karisma is here to help. With every module and every feature built-in as standard, Karisma gives you and your business the complete picture.

David Moran
Business Development Manager

david.moran@kestral.com.au
+ 61 419 531 510
www.kestral.com.au

